2021 YEAR-END RECAP

THE PANDEMIC EFFECT

Sales Take Off.

The big story in 2020 was the huge number of homes that sold, with nearly 80% of the sales taking place in the last 6 months! It was a fairly normal year for real estate until the shutdown occurred in mid-March. By mid-year there were only 185 homes sold, but the total at year-end was 830!

Where's the Inventory?

At the beginning of 2020 there were 302 homes listing for sale (about a 6 month supply). At the end of 2020 there were only 123 homes listed for sale (about a 2 month supply). In 2021 the inventory remained very low all year, dropping below 100 for the final months and ending the year with only 80 homes for sale.

Buyer demand drives up values!

The consistent buyer demand, combined with super low availability, led to an overall rate of appreciation of 32% in 2021. Any well-priced home that came on the market sold in just a few days, with many receiving multiple offers and a final sale price above asking.
